YONKERS.

Representatives from nearly every company in the Yonkers Fire Department gathered in the house of Irving Hose Company on Monday night. They came there to show their appreciation of the long and faithful service of ex-Chief Engineer James J. Mulcahey by presenting him a gold badge. Mulcahey ente el the Yonkers Volunteer Fire Department nearly a quarter of a century ago. He rose step by step from the ranks, till in 1892 he was chosen chief engineer. He served two years faith-fully, handling over a hundred fires, two of them being the worst the city had seen in many years. John C. Harrigan made the presentation speech and referred to Mr. Mulcahey's fine record. After the chief had responded there were songs by Edward J. Flood, William O'Mara, William Lorenz, William McKenzle and Mr. Fox.

In order to get from the State Superintendent of Public Instruction an opinion as to whether the of Fublic instruction an opinion as to paid the board has power to decide upon the qualifications of teachers, independent of the rules of the State Department, as they apply to some other parts of the State, or whether the board must conform to the sustem of examinations issued by the State Superintendent, it was determined to postpone action to a special meeting on April II.

NEW-JERSEY.

JERSEY CITY.

The April term of the Hudson County Courts at Jersey City began yesterday. Judge Lippincott, in his charge to the Grand Jury, said that he had been informed that two poolrooms were "run" in Jersey City, despite reports to the contrary. He said it should be the duty of the Grand Jury to learn whether this report was true or not. He also asked the Grand Jury to investigate a report that certain papers had been stolen from the Proseoffice. Judge Lippincott also charged the Grand Jury to investigate certain published reports regarding the erection of the new City Hall in Jerregarding the erection of the new City Hall in Jersey City. He further called attention to the new houlevard, the Hackensack Plank Road, and the matter of primary elections in Hudson County. If hallot-boxes were stuffed at primary elections, Judge Lippincott said the offenders could, and should be indicted. As regards the boulevard, he said that the original estimate of the cost of the road had been more than doubled, and the limit has not yet been reached.

As regards the new City Hall, the Commissioners—John Pierson, president; James Burke and Emil E. Datz—gave out communications last night saying that they would court an investigation, and give all the help in their power.

Judge Depue charged the April Grand Jury at the beginning of the term of the courts yesterday. and paid particular attention to the alleged frauds and violations of the law by members of the old Democratic Board of Freeholders in the purchasing of supplies and materials and doing work for the county institutions. Six members of the Public Buildings and Lunacy committees have already been indicted for allowing exorbitant rates to be charged for county supplies. These Freeholders are Cahill, Oury, Lupton, McLaughlin, Hanley and Dr. Ripley. They were indicted by the September Grand Jury on Friday, December 7, but have not yet been brought to trial. The December Grand Jury made an investigation of county affairs, and indicted three members of a plumbing company, which, it is alleged, charged for materials that were not furnished to the county. The men are Edward Dunn, John Dunn and Christopher O'Rourke. The jury also brought in a presentment to the Court, showing that gross overcharges had been made, the prices in some instances being more than doubled, and that the law had been systematically violated in respect to giving out contracts for work. In his charge yesterday Judge Depue told the new Grand Jury take up the investigation where its predecessor left for county supplies. These Freeholders are Cahill,

Complaint was made yesterday to the Passaic County Board of Freeholders by Orrin Van Der-hoven, Editor of "The Passate Herald," that there were two camps of tramps, one in that county, at the car-repair works in Acquackanonk Township, at Lake View, and another at the tanks in Bergen County, across the river.

Somebody shouted, "Three cheers for Simpson!" and the gas was turned out and Simpson declared nominated. The hearing was adjourned until Wednesday, April 19.

A MODERN LONDON SHOP.

Even London has been invaded by the modern way of doing things. The American shopping in London at one time found it necessary to visit as many different shops as there were articles required, but all this has been changed, and one can now find under the roof of the Messrs Shoolbred, Tottenham Court Road, London, every possible thing that the modern man or woman requires. A special feature of this famous firm's business is the renting or purchasing of houses for their clients, and the fitting up and decorating of them, both inside and outside, in the most tasteful and modern way.

INJUNCTION SUIT AGAINST THE CITY. BROOKLYN ELEVATED RAILROAD COMPANY TRY-ING TO PREVENT THE ADVERTISING FOR SALE OF ITS PROPERTY-

ALLEGATIONS MADE. An important injunction suit was begun in the Supreme Court yesterday by the Brooklyn Elevated Railroad Company, through their counsel, Hoadiy, Lauterbach & Johnson, against Mayor Schieren and Frederick W. Hinrichs, Register of Arreats, restraining the Department of Arreats from advertising the railroad property of the plaintiff for sale for non-payment of arrears of taxes for 1800, amounting to $51,119.37. The defendant city has twenty days in which to answer the complaint, which alleges: in which to answer the complaint, which alleges;
First—That the elevated rairroad companies represented by the plaintiff received from the Common Council exclusive rights to operate a railroad through the streets of the city at a speed greater than six miles an hour; that since that permission was granted, the Common Council has granted permission to the surface railroads to operate trolley lines at a rate of speed exceeding six miles an hour, and have thus materially injured the plaintiff's business.

Second—That two assessors did not examine in the year 183 the property of the plaintiffs for the purpose of assessing the value, as is required by law. The plaintiff alleges that the taxes are grossly in excess of what it should pay. It is further allege! excess of what it should pay. It is further allege! that the taxes are illegal and unenforceable for various reasons. Some of these are that in 1890 and 1891 the plaintiff was assessed at $150.000 a mile and in 1892 at $250.000 a mile; that the troiley companies are not taxed on their real estate, although exercising the same rights in respect of specific at the elevated roads, while the latter are taxed. The plaintiff recties that when the troiley went into operation the plaintiff had no floating debt, but did have a surplus of $25,000. On January I, 1895, it was in debt $362,000, besides two years' back taxes.

The plaintiff says that the fact that the Register of Arrears was about to begin the preparation of the catalogue of sale of the plaintiff's property has cast a cloud upon it and prevented it from borrowing money upon the property.

BELIEF THAT THE MAYOR WILL FAVOR IT.

CREASE OF THE SALARIES OF THE UNIFORMED FORCE OF FIREMEN-MR, EATON AND MR. SHEFFIELD AMONG THE SPEAKERS.

The bill providing for an increase of the salaries of the uniformed force of New-York firemen was before Mayor Strong for hearing yesterday. The bill provides that third-class firemen, those serving their first year, shall receive the present compensa-tion of $1,000; those of the second class, serving their second year, who now receive $1,100, shall receive $1,200, and that those of the first class, who have served more than two years, and now get $1,200, shall receive $1,400. The salaries of engineers who now have $1,400, are to be raised to $1,600. It is provided that when a fireman has served satis-factorily for one year he shall be promoted to the second class as a matter of right and not by favor of the Fire Board. The same principle is to be ap plied to promotions from the second to the first

A large delegation of firemen and their friends was present at 2 p. m., when Secretary Job E. Hedges announced that the Mayor was ready to hear arguments on the bill, those opposed to it to speak first.

Ex-United States Civil Service Commissioner Dorman B. Eaton appeared as the representative of the City Club and made a long address, in which he attacked the methods which the promoters of the bil

City Club and made a long address, in which he attacked the methods which the promoters of the bill had adopted, though he avoided saying that the firemen were not entitled to the increase asked for. He favored the home rule principle in these matters, and said that the initial application should be made to the city authorities and not to the Legislature. Mr. Eaten protested against the provision which annulled the Commissioners' supervision of the promotion of firemen.

Fire Commissioner James R. Sheffield spoke in favor of the bill, which, he said, he had assisted in drawing up before he became a member of the board. Since he entered on duty as a Commissioner he had been more than ever convinced of its wisdom. His brother Commissioners also believed it right. Chief Bonner, he said, had been in doubt at one time about the provision relating to promotions, but he now said that he would not oppose a single feature of the bill if his views would endanger its passage. He paid a high compliment to the bravery and devotion of the force, and invited the Mayor to accompany him on a tour of inspection to see the fine condition of the department. He defended the clause relating to promotions, saying that it prevented political interference.

Fireman Clifford, of the East Eighty-fifth-st, engine company, defended the bill. Mr. Eaton objected to the mandatory provision in the bill. Mayor Strong said that he also was oposed to mandatory legislation, but if it was justifiable in any case, it should be in that of the firemen. The Mayor reserved this decision, but it was believed that he intends to approve the bill.
